HSK 3+ Vocabulary

Words from the text above that are HSK level 3 or higher (levels approximate).

Word	Pinyin	Explanation
被 HSK3	bèi	Passive marker: 我的手被虫子咬了 = 'my hand was bitten by a bug'. Pattern: Receiver + 被 + (Agent) + Verb + result. Here 给 is added before the verb for colloquial emphasis (被…给咬了).
蚊子 HSK6	wénzi	'Mosquito'. Common collocations: 蚊子叮 / 被蚊子咬. Note 叮 (dīng) is the usual verb in writing; 咬 is the everyday spoken choice.
挠 beyond HSK	náo	'To scratch (an itch) lightly'. 挠痒痒 = scratch an itch. Not the same as 抓 (grab/claw) — 挠 is gentle and soothing, which is why a parent says 给挠挠.
可怜 HSK5	kělián	'Pitiful, poor thing'. As a sympathetic exclamation, 可怜了 / 真可怜 comforts a child. Can also mean 'to pity' as a verb: 可怜他.
胡说 HSK5	húshuō	'To talk nonsense'. 别胡说 is a stock scolding phrase; 胡 (recklessly) + verb forms 胡说八道, 胡闹, 胡来.
不都…吗 grammar	bù dōu … ma	Rhetorical question: 爸爸妈妈不都在呢吗 = 'aren't Mom and Dad both here?' Using 不 + 都 + 吗 expects a 'yes' and reassures. 呢 adds a gentle, explanatory tone.
甜 HSK4	tián	'Sweet'. Used for taste (甜的血), also figuratively: 嘴甜 'sweet-talking', 笑得很甜 'a sweet smile'. Opposite: 苦.
臭 HSK5	chòu	'Stinky, smelly'. Opposite of 香 (fragrant). Also figurative: 臭脾气 'bad temper'. Here it's the playful counterpart to 甜.
血 HSK5	xuè	'Blood'. Formal reading xuè; spoken Mandarin (esp. Beijing) often says xiě, e.g. 流血 liú xiě. Both accepted.
只…不… grammar	zhǐ … bù …	'Only (does A), not (B)': 蚊子只咬我不咬刘星. 只 limits the action to one target, then 不 contrasts with the excluded one.
